

Mark Demler

Co-Founder of the Project Moses ministry at Saint Michael and All Angels Episcopal Church

A retired executive of The Coca-Cola Company. Held a wide variety of sales and marketing positions over a 40-year career working with the U.S. Coca-Cola system.

In retirement Mark has dedicated time to many different ministries at the church. Currently these include Project Moses, whose mission is "To highlight the truths of human trafficking and share the Light of Christ with its survivors". The areas of focus for Project Moses are Education & Awareness, Advocacy, and Community Outreach. This ministry was founded in 2016 with his wife, Terry. In 2021, Project Moses was honored with the "Speaking Up + Speaking Out" award from Children at Risk.

As an extension of the work with Project Moses, Mark serves on the leadership team of the North Texas Coalition Against Human Trafficking and as a board member of the Men's Advocacy Group at New Friends New Life.

Mark also serves as a U.S. Board Member of the Amistad Mission. The Amistad Mission provides a safe and loving home to abandoned, abused, and orphaned children in Cochabamba, Bolivia. Amistad for Families is also an integral part of this Mission to help prevent the widespread scope of family issues in this community.

Mark enjoys spending time with his wife, Terry, and their family of two sons and 5 grandchildren.
