

Tracey Nash-Huntley and David S. Huntley

Tracey Nash-Huntley is a Dallas community volunteer. She received her B.S. in Industrial Engineering from the Georgia Institute of Technology after spending her first two collegiate years at Southern Methodist University. Her path led to a 15+ year career in fashion and modeling, then on to positions in special events coordination and nonprofit community engagement. She is the immediate past Board Chair of New Friends New Life and currently serves on the Board of Goodwill Industries, Dallas, the Advisory Board of SMU's Cary M. Maguire Center for Ethics and Public Responsibility, and the Executive Committee of the Moody Fund for the Arts. Tracey is the current Program Chair of the Dallas (TX) Chapter of The Links, Incorporated and is passionate about creating a pipeline to STEAM education and careers for underrepresented girls through her work with their Dallas Links STEAM Academy for 7th – 12th grade girls of color. She is a founding member of The Village Giving Circle at Texas Women's Foundation and a Junior League of Dallas Sustainer.

David S. Huntley is AT&T's Senior Executive Vice President and Chief Compliance Officer and has been a part of the senior leadership team since 2014. Over the past 9 years, he built a world class compliance and privacy organization for AT&T and under his leadership, AT&T was recognized by Ethisphere as one of the World's Most Ethical Companies. Last year, he was the recipient of the prestigious Carol R. Marshall Award for Innovation in Corporate Ethics. David joined the legal team for then Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems in 1994 and has held numerous leadership positions for AT&T in the legal department, external affairs, sales, and customer service centers. David is a member of New Friends New Life's Men's Advocacy Group and serves in leadership roles in numerous non-profit organizations including AT LAST!, Dallas Citizen's Council, National Urban League and Methodist Health Systems. In addition, he is a Trustee of his beloved alma mater, Southern Methodist University and is the Texas Business Hall of Fame's President/Chair Elect for 2024. David currently serves on the board of Texas Capital Bancshares. Tracey and David have two adult sons, Cal and Porter.
