

JoJo Fleiss
Community Philanthropist

JoJo a newcomer to Dallas and is CEO of the Fleiss Family, which position she took in order to raise her four kids. JoJo grew up between New York and Los Angeles. Graduated from the Annenberg School of Journalism at USC and spent her career as a fashion editor & stylist at Hearst Magazines and Harpo productions. JoJo has been actively involved on the parents' associations at her children's schools in Los Angeles and now their schools in Dallas, as well as an active fundraiser and event chair for Children's Hospital LA and the Hammer Museum. She is actively getting involved in organizations in Dallas such as Women's Auxiliary to Children's Medical Center and the DMA. JoJo is mom to Teddy, 15, Benji, 12, Caroline, 12, and Goldie, 7. JoJo's husband Eric is CEO of Regent Properties.